2009 flotilla budget accepted during the February meeting.

Cost-cutting measures established in anticipation of fewer students.

The Recreational Boating Safety (RBS) Visitation Certificate of Appreciation and RBS device were presented to Steve Foisey during the February flotilla meeting.

Recreational Boating Safety Visitors Program is designed to assist marine dealers, marinas and the recreational boating community with safety information, access to Coast Guard resources for recalls and consumer complaints.

The RBS Device was established to recognize members who support the Auxiliary's programs and activities within, or related to, the Recreational Boating Safety (RBS) Program. The award of the device is based upon the member earning 120 points per year for two consecutive years (total of 240 points to qualify).

Stephen Foisey has been tireless in providing boating safety material to ten marine dealers, yacht clubs, marinas and sporting good stores in the area, visiting them monthly, since 2002, to replenish pamphlets and to spend time chatting with the managers.

Steve assisted store managers in promoting boating safety by organizing and staffing safety booths in a number of marine supply stores answering questions and handing out material.

Congratulations and Well done!

Flotilla Newsletter Changes Format

Starting with this edition, the meeting minutes will no longer be included in the Beacon.

For the last three years, the Milford Beacon has been the primary source for disseminating the minutes of the flotilla business meeting, along with highlights of flotilla activities. With the advent of a more formal distribution by the FSO-SR, the minutes of the meeting in the Milford Beacon has becomes redundant

The Beacon will continue to present highlights of flotilla activities along with detailed back-stories of events being planned.

The reduction in size of the Beacon will reduce overall printing and distribution costs along with a smaller file size for posting on the flotilla website.

Staff officers are urged to use the Beacon as a platform for disseminating information, schedules and activities in their respective areas.

Training Center

The weather has taken its toll on the logo and sign that adorn the front of the training center. It was announced during the February flotilla meeting that plans are underway to replace the signs. The designs will be duplicated in vinyl and mounted on an aluminum base, reinforced with a weather resistant wood material.

Training Center

The existing public education sign at the training center will be overhauled in the near future

What started out as a convenient way to change dates and specialty class offerings has turned into a major task due to the sun's rays deteriorating the sign's magnet materials.

A committee has been established to assess the available options for materials, the content and format of information that will be displayed. Serving on the committee are Steve Perrone, Jack Godfrey and Tim Mulherin.

District Awards Conference Registration Information On-line

So visit the website and register to go, you will not be sorry.

Spring is Coming!

When Sand Beneath the Snow is Free

There is nothing more magical than to be ghosting along on a quiet sea.

Sails full, light breezes blow,
setting sun casts an orange glow.

These are the thoughts that come to be
when sand beneath the snow is free

T'is time to think of going to sea
when gentle breezes blow.

The dream of far horizons
In the heart will grow.

These are the thoughts that come to be
when sand beneath the snow is free

Gentle waves against the hull,
or the call of a soaring gull,
wispy clouds in the sky,
sailboats moving slowly by.

These are the thoughts that come to be
when sand beneath the snow is free

Feel the tiller in your hand,
where far astern is the land.

The sails pull, the ship goes fast,
Spring is here at long last

These are the thoughts that come to be
when sand beneath the snow is free

By the editor

February is an awkward month. Still too cold to think of boats and weeks away from Spring. How often, as we walk, do we think of the melting snow being a sure sign that Spring is near, only to be surprised by another snowfall? How often do we gaze at the trees and shrubs looking for that newly formed bud that is proof positive that Spring is near?

They say that in the Spring a young man's fancy turns to love. Could it be that he knows no better? We, who have been youth-deprived for some time, know very well that in the Spring it is time to caress the bottom of a boat, polish the brass, wax the hull and dream of getting underway on the first warm sunny day.

District Website

The 1st District (SR) website has a new look. It is clean, easy to negotiate and contains a wealth of information.

It's the place to go to meet the District Bridge, Chief of Staff, District Captains, Department Chiefs and Staff Officers. Need information for a specific staff position? Follow the links. Find out who the ADSOs are and access contact information.

For the convenience of the viewer there are the usual links to Coast Guard and Auxiliary websites.

Place the District website on your desktop for easy access to the gateway for all Auxiliary information.

Flotilla Schedule

The secretary suggested that staff officers and bridge create a flotilla activities schedule that will identify all the planned activities for the entire year.

We know that the boat crew schedule encompasses every weekend and that schedule is prepared and released to boat crew. However, there are scheduled events such as vessel examinations, public affairs events, boat maintenance and certain flotilla activities that are known but not planned ahead of time.

By having a composite schedule with specific dates published, members can set time aside well in advance of the activity, thereby ensuring that the activity will be well staffed.

Staff officers and bridge have been requested to provide those planned activity dates to the secretary for compilation into a flotilla schedule.
